POL-1002 / POLICY NOTES

Reading this example

Policy information for a provisional human review.

06 Coverage notes

Only the coverages printed on the schedule are listed in this example. Do not import terms from another policy. Limits are fictional maximum field values, not promised reimbursements.

Collision damage subject to policy terms

A fictional collision coverage entry for the stated historical policy period. Its presence does not establish coverage for an incident outside that period.

Third-party liability subject to policy terms

A fictional liability coverage entry for the stated historical policy period. No liability or fault determination is made.

07 Unspecified information

- Any renewal, replacement policy, or extension after the displayed end timestamp is unknown.
- Insured vehicle details, permitted vehicle class, deductible applicability, and endorsements are not specified.
- Premium, payment history, jurisdiction, and claims contact details are not specified.

08 When reporting an accident

Provide the incident date and time with timezone, location, narrative, injury status, other-vehicle involvement, and any police report reference. Leave unknown information unknown. Seek local emergency assistance first if anyone is in immediate danger. A draft must be read back and explicitly confirmed before submission.

09 Review boundaries

The automated assistant may collect facts and describe potentially relevant policy fields. It cannot guarantee coverage, determine fault, accuse anyone of fraud, approve settlement, make a payment, or change this policy. A human insurance professional must review every finding.
